

City of Rockingham's Disability Access and Inclusion Plan 2026-2031: Community Survey

The City of Rockingham is committed to creating a community where people with disability have equal access to all services, activities and facilities.

Western Australian Local Governments are required by law to develop and implement Disability Access and Inclusion Plans (DAIPS). When you see the word DAIP in this form, we mean Disability Access and Inclusion Plan.

The City's 2022-2026 DAIP is coming to an end and the City wants to hear from you to inform its next plan.

Janali & Co is a community development consultancy that is leading the community engagement for this project in collaboration with the City. We would appreciate you sharing your thoughts, suggestions and insights with us through this brief survey. Your views will directly shape the City's new DAIP 2026-2031.

Survey Overview

The survey will take approximately 10-15 minutes to complete.

How will your responses be used?

Survey responses will be summarised in an Engagement Report that will be provided to the City of Rockingham. We will remove names and identifying details so that your feedback remains anonymous. An appendix will list the organisations who participated in the engagement. Survey data will be stored by the City of Rockingham.

Who should complete the survey?

Access and inclusion is everyone's business. We want to hear from any interested community members including people with lived experience of disability, carers, and local organisations.

your experience in a way that suits you. If you would prefer to share your experiences over the phone, in person, via video call or with an interpreter or support person please contact us to let us know your preference and support needs.
